

Evening Talk - Agile or common sense!

Since 1995 we have looked at several Agile methods like DSDM, RUP, Xtreme Programming, SCRUM and others. What is so special about AGILE, why does it work? If you would like to know more, and answer this question the British Computer Society Malta Section will be organizing a talk on the subject on Thursday 28th August 2008 at a venue to be decided later. Registration will be at 6.00pm.

This presentation will be given by Mr. Ivan Bartolo, Principal Director at 6pm Ltd. Mr Bartolo is the best you can get regarding Agile Methodology. He became involved with the DSDM consortium in 1995. In early 1996, when version 2 was released, he had the opportunity to become a certified DSDM Practitioner and Trainer. Through his involvement and commitment with the consortium, he was appointed Director for International Business Development on the board of the consortium and served in that role for two years during which he was responsible to launch other consortia in countries such as the United States of America, Canada and Scandinavia.

It would be great if you join us for this informal presentation and networking opportunity. If you are interested in attending this topical event send an e-mail to chair@bcs.org.mt or call the one of the following nos. 7945 2015, 9945 7076 for confirmation. This event is free of charge.
